INTRODUCTION TO COMMUNITY AED LEVEL 1 (VTQ)

POWERED BY PROTRAININGS

Community AED units are becoming more widespread and they save lives. An AED is a computerised device that is designed to deliver a shock to a patient and bring a person's heart back to a normal beating rhythm following a cardiac arrest. It is important to deliver the shock as soon as possible and having an AED locally in the community, saves valuable time being able to deliver the shock before the emergency medical services arrive.

Learning how to use them is very easy, this video course covers the basics of CPR and AED use so that you can have the basic skills to use a community AED in an emergency. You do not have to have experience in first aid to complete this course and you do not have to complete a practical lesson as AED units are very easy to use.

All our courses, including this one, have received independent certification confirming their alignment with universally accepted Continuous Professional Development (CPD) guidelines. Upon completion, participants receive a Certified CPD Statement, a ProTrainings Certificate, and for online courses, an Evidence-Based Learning statement.
